3. Salient features on the concept of Dominant Promoter/Shareholder Group:

- a) Dominant Promoter / Shareholder Group (DPG) is a group of shareholders of the Trading member corporate who normally would be individuals, not exceeding 4 in number, and who would jointly and/or severally hold not less than 51 % of shares (40% in case of listed companies) in the trading member corporate at the time of admission as well as subsequently at all relevant points of time.
- b) The shareholding/interest of close relatives of the DPG viz. Parents, spouse, children, brothers and sisters would also be counted for arriving at total dominant holding / interest of a particular dominant shareholder, if such relative(s) give an unqualified and irrevocable support in writing to the concerned dominant shareholder in respect of such holding / interest.
- c) Corporate shareholders of the trading member company can also extend their support to the DPG, provided the shareholding of the Dominant Promoter Group along with the support of their specified relatives in the corporate shareholder is not less than 51 % or 40%, as the case may be. The indirect shareholding shall be calculated proportionately by reckoning the direct shareholding of the DPG along with the support of their specified relatives in the corporate shareholder of the trading member company.
- d) If none of the dominant promoters/ shareholders is a Director on the Board of Directors of the trading member company, then at least two other directors having the requisite experience and qualification shall hold a minimum of 5% shares (each) in the paid up equity capital of the trading member company.
Once a trading entity nominates/ determines a group of shareholders (1 to 4) as the DPG, no other "shareholder (existing or new) would be allowed to join the DPG. However, one or more shareholders within the DPG may be allowed to divest their shares and quit the group. In such an eventuality, it is to be ensured that the remaining dominant shareholders always maintain among themselves, a minimum of 51% of the shares of the company (40% in case of listed trading member corporate) at all points of time.

Failure to maintain this required level of shareholding will be treated as a breach of the continuing membership norms, which would tantamount to a reconstitution of the trading member corporate as the existing DPG would no longer hold controlling interest in the trading member corporate or alternatively a new group would have emerged with controlling stake. CSE would immediately withdraw the trading facility of such trading members. They could be re-instated upon rectifying the defect or seeking the approval of the Exchange for identifying the new group of shareholders as the dominant shareholders, for which the process of going through the Listing, Delisting, Investor Service and Membership Selection Committee and the Board will need to be followed

- e) The DPG may also be permitted to consist of corporate shareholders, provided:
- the trading member is a wholly owned subsidiary of another company
  - the said holding company is not a subsidiary of any other company
  - the identifiable individual dominant promoter(s) (not more than 4) hold atleast 51 % of the share capital of the holding company,

or

there are two or more listed corporate shareholders jointly holding atleast 51 % of the share capital of the holding company

or

one or more listed corporate shareholders along with individual shareholders together, not exceeding four in number, jointly hold atleast 51 % of the shares of the holding company, Provided that in none of the above instances the holding company of the trading member corporate becomes the subsidiary of another corporate.

- the said dominant promoters undertake in writing, not to dilute their shareholding in the holding company without prior consent of the Exchange.
- Such corporate dominant shareholders are widely held listed Finance companies having net worth of Rs. 20 crores and above and their debt instruments, if any, have been accorded at least investment grade credit rating by reputed rating agencies.
- If such corporate dominant shareholders are non-finance companies listed on CSE and have a net worth of Rs. 20 crores and their debt instruments, if any, have been accorded at least investment grade credit rating by reputed rating agencies, then such a company shall be permitted to be included in the DPG.
- Private Banks, central or state government owned Finance and/or Development Institutions etc are also allowed to be identified as dominant shareholder(s) even if they are not listed provided they have a net-worth of at least Rs. 20 crores and the debt instruments, if any, have investment grade credit rating made by one of the reputed credit rating agencies.

The aforesaid norms are also applicable to trading members who are partnership firms. The term dominant shareholder/promoter may be substituted as 'dominant partner'.
